TWO ARRESTED FOR ALLEGEDLY AIDING NORVELL

Letter from the Fugitive Convict Found on Jackson Farmer

Murphysboro, Ill., May 2—(AP)—Two farmers were jailed here today on suspicion of aiding Randol Eugene Norvell, convicted kidnaper, and James O'Connell, who last Friday escaped from the southern Illinois penitentiary at Chester.

The arrests were made last night in the Hickory Ridge region about ten miles southwest of here and 25 miles south of the penitentiary by Sheriff W. W. Ozburn and state police. Sheriff Ozburn today directed the man hunt in the heavily wooded area near the homes of the farmers.

Had Norvell Letter

Warden Joseph Ragen of the Southern Illinois prison said today that a letter, apparently written by Norvell, and addressed to his wife in an East St. Louis, Ill., suburb, was found in possession of one of the farmers. Warden Ragen declined to make public contents of the letter.

Norvell and O'Connell, the latter serving a term for burglary, fled from custody by wounding their way through a sewer outlet to the Mississippi river. They are believed to have crossed the river in a stolen rowboat, and later to have recrossed the river and again entered Illinois.

A wide spread search for the escaped convicts has continued since their flight began, with approximately 200 officers and possemen participating.

Norvell and O'Connell were reported seen shortly before noon. One of the searchers, according to a telephone message to Sergeant George Rodman of the State Highway Patrol, slid down the side of a cliff virtually into the laps of the fugitives.

The telephone informant was reported as saying the man saw the two fugitives hiding in a cave at the bottom of the cliff. The searcher was said to have been injured in the fall. According to the message, he said the two men escaped while he was shouting for aid.

Rev. Fr. O'Donnell Much Better Today

South Bend, Ind., May 2—(AP)—The condition of the Rev. Charles L. O'Donnell, president of Notre Dame University, was reported much improved at noon today but attending physicians said he was still seriously ill.

Father O'Donnell suffered a relapse several days ago of a long illness, and yesterday the last sacraments of the Roman Catholic church were administered.

Survival of Union Supreme Issue Says Congressman Beck

Chicago, May 2—(AP)—The charge that the philosophy of the present administration was at death grips with the philosophy of the architects of the Constitution was hurled by Congressman James M. Beck (Rep.) of Pennsylvania.

He asserted last night at the annual banquet of the Illinois Manufacturers Association that the most essential features of the constitution will be abandoned in all 48 states. He said:

"In the present policy of a Unitary socialist state shall prevail, even the Union, which is older than the Constitution, may not long survive."

AMBOY TRUCK BURNS

Amboy, May 2—A Ford truck belonging to Peter Brown, was totally destroyed by fire this morning about 2 o'clock. The truck was parked last night in the rear of the Thomas Lepper restaurant and presumably caught fire from defective wiring. The fire department was called but the truck was totally destroyed.

FEDERAL JUDGE RULES NRA ACT IS NOT VALID

Kentucky Jurist Says It Can't Be Applied to Local Business

Louisville, Ky., May 2—(AP)—A temporary restraining order to prevent prosecution of western Kentucky coal mine operators for not observing the recently announced NRA basic wage scale, was granted by Judge Charles L. Dawson in Federal District Court.

The order was directed to Thomas J. Sparks, United States District Attorney, and was based on Judge Dawson's conclusion that the National Recovery Act as applied to local business was unconstitutional. Judge J. R. LaFman, State NRA Compliance Director for Kentucky, named in the petition, ruled that the compliance director had no authority to institute prosecution under the act.

Judge Dawson said the constitutionality of the National Recovery Act as applied to local business was "simple and conclusive." He held its provisions make the business codes agreements with the President of the United States as unwise, and that under such an agreement the coal operators should not be "punished."

Law, Church Join in Denunciation of "Test Tube" Babies

Chicago, May 2—(AP)—The law and the church joined today in denouncing the subject of "test tube" babies.

Judge Joseph Sabath of Chicago called it a violation of the law, and asserted "there would always be jealousy and the stigma of illegitimacy."

The Rev. George Craig Stewart, Bishop of the Episcopal Diocese of Chicago branded it "mere animalism," defeating the church's spiritual view of marriage.

The laboratory process calling in some instances for eugenic fathers, but in others for the husband of the patient, was described by both New York and Chicago physicians as having been employed in some form or other for several centuries.

Experiments have been limited to extracted teeth.

"Within a short time," Dr. Oarrel continued, "I plan to try experiments of this nature with actual patients. I have every reason to believe the method will be just as successful as with extracted teeth."

The dentist said his experiments are based on the use of radiology in the treatment of rheumatism and arthritis. If perfected, he added, patients will be saved teeth pain and money.

Faith of Our Mothers
(Tune: St. Catherine)

FAITH of our mothers, hold it true,
As morning star in Heaven's blue,
As peerless pearl from the ocean's bed,
As guiding light, seen far ahead.

Faith of our mothers, blessed faith
It shall be ours to hold till death.
Faith of our mothers hold in trust
That which is true and pure and just.
Her loving thought and constant prayer,
For those held dear who leave her care.
Faith of our mothers, blessed faith
In holy hope, we'll hold till death.

Faith of our mothers, held in love
This sacred treasure from above.
God grant it grace upon its way,
Our wand'ring souls to hold its sway.

Triumphant, we'll hold till death
Faith of our mothers, blessed faith.

May Music Festival May 14th

The Committee of the Woman's Club May Music Festival have decided not to announce the winners until the night of the concert. The committee was especially pleased with the number of contestants and the spirit in which they participated. The idea was originally announced, was to develop and encourage music talent of Dixon, and the committee feels they have fully accomplished the purpose of their project, because the talent that was brought out was most gratifying. We know that Dixon is full of talented youth and that often it only needs the opportunity for development and encouragement. Miss Violet Martens of Chicago was the judge. Miss Martens is remarkably well qualified for such work as she was a coach at the Chicago Opera, coaching and directing such stars as Charles Marshall and Rosa Raisa, and playing with many of the prominent artists. The committee feels indebted to Miss Martens for giving so generously of her time, and Miss Martens expressed enthusiastic praise for the talent that was presented for her to judge.

The Committee decided, in view of the outstanding talent that was presented to choose out of the Senior Class one Soloist and one Honorable Mention; out of the Junior Class, Soloist winning girl, and Soloist, winning boy, with two Honorable Mentions. There being but two contestants in Voice one was chosen. The date of the concert is Monday, May 14th at Masonic Temple at 8:00 P. M.

Certainly Dixon is interested in supporting and hearing our aspiring and talented young people and we urge hearty support of this concert. Complete program will be announced later. There will be an orchestra, the Troubadettes and other choral offerings, besides the winners of the contests.

Chanel—the French dressmaker—it was first shown us what could be done with simple frocks and smart accessories. This is just such a "little" frock—meaning simple and not at all difficult to make—but if you wish to have a bit of a fling of an afternoon or evening, it is quite equal to the occasion. All you need is a big bracelet and a bigger hat and, as you see by the sketch, the trick is turned. Of course the material of the frock is important—a sheer, embroidered cotton is lovely, don't you think so?

Pattern 9992 may be ordered only in sizes 14, 16, 18, 20, 32, 34, 36, 38 and 40. Size 16 requires 3 7-8 yards 36 inch fabric.

Send FIFTEEN CENTS in coins or stamps (coins preferred) for EACH MARIAN MARTIN pattern. Be sure to write very plainly your NAME, ADDRESS, the STYLE, NUMBER and SIZE of each pattern.

ORDER YOUR COPY OF THE NEW MARIAN MARTIN SPRING PATTERN BOOK — a practical Spring sewing guide, offering stunning models for all occasions for grown-ups, juniors and youngsters, and for the woman who needs slenderizing lines. PRICE OF NEW BOOK, FIFTEEN CENTS. Recife Contest Entries Begin To Drift In

This morning's mail brought a flood of recipes—early entries in the Recipe Contest being conducted as a part of the Evening Telegraph—Kelvinator Cooking School, which will be conducted, May 9, 10, 11, at the Moose Hall. Recipes were received not only from Dixon, but from surrounding territories as well. Women are submitting their favorite recipe in the hope of winning a share of the $25 in cash prizes which will be divided among the ten women whose recipes are adjudged winners.

Women of Dixon were urged to day to unearth their favorite recipes and enter the contest. It has been pointed out that the winner need not produce some new dish to carry away high honors. After all, it's the simple foods, prepared in new and unusual ways, that often please people the most. Some women have asked if the recipe must be one suitable for preparation in a Kelvinator. No—any type of recipe can be submitted, and there will be no such restrictions placed on the winning ones.

Possibly you have some distinctive way of preparing baked beans. Maybe you have a cake recipe which is just a little different. Perhaps you know how to concoct one of those delicious graham cracker pies, or in your family maybe there is one of those old recipes for pastry which will carry away first honors for you.

We are interested in every kind of food dish. If you have an electric refrigerator in your home you likely have developed some kind of frozen dessert which is a favorite in your family. If you prepare meat in some new or different fashion send the recipe to the Evening Telegraph or bring it in yourself. Present it at the desk on the first floor, or sent it to the Recipe Contest Editor before May 9th.

Prizes are as follows: First prize, $10; second prize, $5; third prize, $3; the next seven prizes, $1.00 each.

Rules of the contest are simple. The judges will consider:

1. Economy and food value of the recipe.

2. Its simplicity and originality. Any type recipe is eligible.

3. The recipe submitted must give accurate measurement; correct method of mixing; number of servings; approximate cost; and a plan for attractive serving.

4. Recipe must be mailed or delivered to Recipe Contest Editor, Evening Telegraph, not later than May 9th.

5. Contest is open to everybody except employees of the W. H. Ware Hardware Store and the employees of the Dixon Evening Telegraph.

Minutes of the previous meeting were read and approved. The treasurer's report was accepted after which reports from chairmen of different committees were called for.

The routine business having been transacted the president called on Mrs. Durkes to take charge of the devotional period—the subject being "Worship." She read from the 98th Psalm and urged the members to pray for and to be faithful to the regular Sunday morning service.

Mrs. Young had charge of the program, the subject being "Chosen."

Mrs. Merriman, Mrs. Edwards and Mrs. Keller assisted in the program by reading different articles describing the country and its inhabitants.

Mrs. Young then read a very interesting play entitled "The Woman Who Turned Back" after which the meeting was closed by singing, "O Jesus I Have Promised" and repeating the Lord's Prayer.

A social hour followed and refreshments were served by the hostess, assisted by her daughter, Mrs. Mellott.

AT LAST, AN EFFORT TO SPEED JUSTICE!

A recent dispatch from Washington announces that "a vigorous campaign to simplify and speed action by the country's courts" is being begun by leaders of the bar; and it is hard to think of any reform that would be much more welcome.

Slowness and inefficiency of legal processes is the chief complaint. It is also charged that lawyers delay cases instead of pressing for a quick decision, and that appeals are made unnecessary expensive by the requirement that the entire record be printed.

The New York bar not long ago named a commission to study the state's judicial system. One member of the commission, Harry D. Nims, wrote an article for the state bar association's journal and said several things that laymen have been saying privately.

"On the calendars of the New York supreme court today there are about 50,000 cases awaiting trial," he wrote. "Something like 150,000 litigants are interested in these cases. They are represented by lawyers."

"These cases represent work to be done. Are we so prosperous that we desire no increase in business? Apparently, for the profession is exerting little pressure upon the judges and the legislature to adopt measures which can be used to make it possible to bring these cases to trial and dispose of them."

"The attitude of the profession is somewhat like that of the old storekeeper who refused to sell sugar because too many people came in to buy it."

"Litigation is necessary and may be made beneficial under proper conditions. The decrease of it does not necessarily mean that there is more justice between man and man. It may mean compromise, fear, inflation of the nuisance value of unfounded and illegal claims."

All this is a mild and fair statement of the case. The delays and expense incident to legal processes have become, in many cases, quite unendurable. In some states ways have been found whereby minor lawsuits can be disposed of without recourse to lawyers at all.

Unless this tendency is to grow to a point where lawyers as a class find a lot of business taken away from them, action to make litigation cheaper and faster is essential.

BACK TO FUNDAMENTALS.

School children in Soviet Russia, says a current dispatch from Moscow, are going back to the old-time ABC's, and study them much as school children do elsewhere.

For a long time the youngsters in the primary grades in Russia have been getting good doses of "dialectic materialism" and "economic determination," and so on — stuff that would be over the head of the average high school pupil in America.

Now the Soviet authorities have at last discovered that it doesn't work. The kids simply can't take it in.

And one wonders if the resultant shift back to osimper and more prosaic methods of pedagogy isn't more or less symbolic. Running a nation on purely theoretical lines is a fine idea, maybe, but compromises with reality are inevitable.

A school child is a school child, the world over. His introduction to the three R's is apt to be pretty much the same under Marx as under the benighted capitalists.

EXPERIMENT ON DEATH.

There is something pretty creepy about this California experiment with a dog who was put to death and then restored to life. The dog's physical condition seems to improve daily, but his intelligence is still sluggish.

Death did something to his brain cells, and it remains to be seen whether the revived body can rebuild them.

And all this, in an eerie and rather ghostly way, brings us right up against the oldest and greatest problem of the race. What happens when a living organism dies?

Is the change strictly something that can be weighed in the laboratory scales and tested beneath the microscope? Or is there some unknown factor there—some insoluble mystery that forever eludes analysis?

It is a long time since any scientist has attempted so interesting an experiment.

POLITICS REIGNS.

In some ways the worst bit of news to come out of Washington this spring is the news that Congress has finally refused to rule out politics in selection of employees of the Home Owners' Loan Corporation.

This action is nothing less than a body blow at democratic government. At a time when government activities are being more greatly extended than ever before, Congress has refused to take the simple step that would have removed an important part of these activities from the grasp of the spoilsman.

It has made it possible for a great and necessary work to be prostituted to the claims of selfish, peanut politicians.

This isn't an unimportant matter. Each time something like this happens, a few more people are convinced that a democratic government cannot function efficiently in the modern world.

Congress can do the nation no greater disservice than to increase the number of people who feel that way.

and her chicks, a wayside flower, a red sunset, a wedding.

Yes, there was plenty of gray in the teaching of Jesus. He did not argue, and He was never abstract. He taught the thing itself in the terms of every day life. No wonder "the common people heard Him gladly," as we are told. "Never man spake like this man," they said and hung upon His words.

All the world loves gravy. We dislike what is juiceless, crusty, dry, whether it be a sermon or a personality. The lack of gravy is the cause of many a failure, both in speech and in life. Our meat must have plenty of gravy or it swiftly loses its flavor.

Some men have no juice in them at all, except clam juice. They are touch-minded, matter of fact, dry as dust. Their minds are full of acts, like a basket of chips. If they tell us the truth it does seem true. It does not move us. There is no alluring charm, no winsome grace, no sweet overplus of love—in short, no gravy.

Gravy is a mixture, made of milk, flour, butter, pepper, salt and what not. So the gravy of life is made up of fact, faith, philosophy, fun, solid serious truth, mixed with sympathy, logic, scrambled with love and laughter, and just enough spice to make it tasty.

PNEUMONIA WAS FATAL TO COL.
WM. C. PROCTOR

Famous Cincinnati Philanthropist and Leader Died Today

Cincinnati, May 2—(AP)—Col. William Cooper Proctor, 72, Cincinnati industrial leader and philanthropist, died this morning. He was a victim of bronchial pneumonia.

The 72-year-old chairman of the board of the Procter & Gamble Company entered the hospital Saturday. He rallied somewhat Monday, but early yesterday suffered another relapse and his condition grew worse throughout the day.

Dr. L. P. Barker of Baltimore, renowned pathologist and authority on pneumonia, was summoned to Col. Proctor's side.

Colonel Proctor returned to Cincinnati from New York and Philadelphia last Friday, suffering from what he believed to be a slight cold.

He "Made" Wilson?

Friends of Proctor claimed for him that he contributed indirectly toward the making of Woodrow Wilson president of the United States.

As a graduate of Princeton University and later as a trustee, he made determined efforts to bring about modifications in the administrative policies of the university. As part of his plan, he favored the establishment of a graduate school that would enjoy freedom from control by the university head and set aside $500,000 for the endowment of such a school.

Woodrow Wilson, at the time president of the university, welcomed the gift and approved its purpose, but insisted that the department should be coordinated with the others of the institution. In an effort to carry his point, Mr. Wilson made a trip to Cincinnati to induce Mr. Proctor to modify the terms of his gift, which he refused to do and it was declined.

The issue over the gift precipitated a controversy, in the midst of which another wealthy alumnus of Princeton died, leaving a large bequest to the school on terms similar to those stipulated by Mr. Proctor.

Unable to sway the governing board of the university to meet the terms of the benefactors, Mr. Wilson shortly afterwards resigned the presidency of Princeton to be nominated and elected governor of New Jersey.

There were many who believed that this venture into politics probably never would have been taken by Mr. Wilson had his administration of Princeton's affairs been tranquil and the friends of Mr. Proctor insisted that the controversy caused by the terms of his proposed gift was a factor in bringing it about.

Business Reforms

Mr. Proctor was the third of his family to head the Procter & Gamble Company, soap manufacturers. His paternal grandfather was one of the two founders of the firm and his father was the first president of the Procter & Gamble Company. William Cooper Proctor was born at Glendale, Ohio, August 25, 1862, the son of William A. and Charlotte Elizabeth (Jackson) Proctor. He was educated in the public schools of Cincinnati and was graduated at the scientific school of Princeton University in 1883.

The same year Mr. Proctor entered the employ of his father's firm and was promoted from time to time until he became general manager when the firm was incorporated in 1890. Upon the death of his father in 1907 he succeeded to the presidency of the company.

Mr. Proctor was responsible for many of the movements inaugurated by the company for the welfare and improvement of the conditions of its employees. In 1887 he put into

LINCOLN'S DEATH

Canadian Lawyer In Accusation Before
Official Board

Ottawa, May 2—(AP)—A claim that John Wilkes Booth was hired by "international bankers" to assassinate Abraham Lincoln has been advanced by a Canadian lawyer-history student.

Testifying before a parliamentary banking committee here, Gerald G. McGeer of Vancouver went back to 1865 and said Booth was the tool of a bankers' plot hatched in Canada to assassinate the American President because of his policy of greenback currency.

"They (the bankers) were the men interested in the establishment of the gold standard money system and the right of the bankers to manage the currency and credit of every nation in the world," McGeer asserted.

"With Lincoln out of the way they were able to proceed with that plan and did proceed with it in the United States. Within eight years after Lincoln's assassination silver was demonetized and the gold standard money system set up in the United States."

"JUST LOOSE TALK"

New York, May 2—(AP)—"Just loose talk," was the comment today of Ida M. Tarbell, biographer of Abraham Lincoln, on the statement by a Canadian lawyer that John Wilkes Booth had assassinated the Emancipator at the instance of "international bankers."

"McGeer's statement is not supported by any evidence that I have ever encountered," said Miss Tarbell. "I do not think there is any truth to it. It is just loose talk."

Historians are generally agreed, she said, that Booth was not motivated by anyone in shooting Lincoln.

"He was entirely on his own," Miss Tarbell said. "He shot Lincoln because he regarded him as a tyrant—a destroyer of his beloved south."

"He did it because he thought he was a hero—a martyr to the cause of the south. Booth's love of the

FARMERS FIGHT
SCHEME VAINLY

Senate Democrats Will Ride Down Opposition Rough Shod

BULLETIN

Washington, May 2—(AP)—The Senate Finance committee today approved the reciprocal tariff bill with an amendment providing for hearings of affected industries before any tariff reductions are put in force.

Washington, May 2—(AP)—Agricultural opposition reared against the Roosevelt reciprocal tariff bill today as Senate Republicans mapper a concededly helpless campaign against the measure, already passed by the House.

Chester H. Gray, vice president of the American Farm Bureau Federation, declared his organization is opposed to any measure containing provisions which might affect adversely the tariff protection now enjoyed by American farm products.

He asserted other farm organizations also are virtually unanimous on this point and particularly oppose any downward revision in tariffs on foreign fats and oils which enter into competition with American butter, cottonseed oil, and animal fat.

Grange Opposed

The National Grange, Gray said, is opposed to the entire bill and does not favor "giving the President such broad powers."

Even the most stern opponents of the measure on Capitol Hill, however, conceded that the Democratic majority could push the bill through in about the form it pleases. Republicans nevertheless plan to get behind an amendment that would prevent tariff reductions on any farm products.

Senator McNary of Oregon, the Republican leader, called G. O. P. Senators to meet later in the week to consider their plan of strategy.

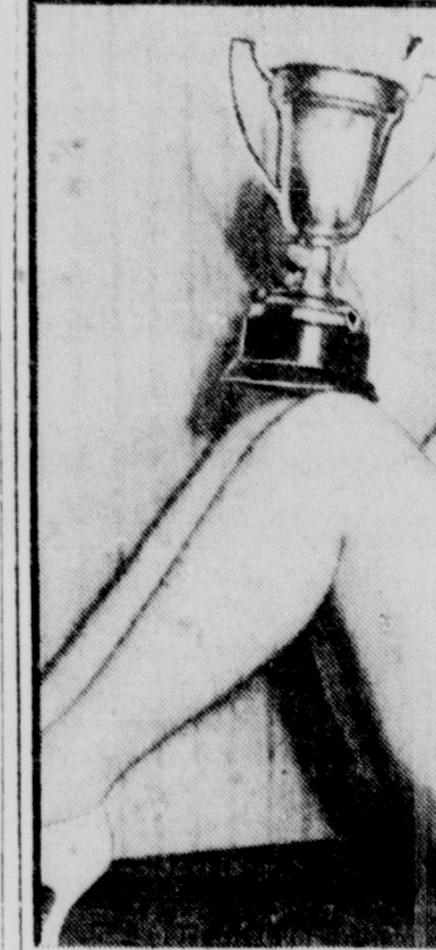

The bill would allow the negotiation of reciprocal trade agreements, in which the President could lower any tariff as much as 50 per cent.

Washington, May 2—(AP)—Strong criticism of the administration was mingled with praise today before the 22nd annual convention of the Chamber of Commerce of the United States.

Henry L. Harriman, president, opening the first general session, reported the new deal's first year had seen brightening economic horizons everywhere.

Immediately following, A. W. Robertson, chairman of the Westinghouse Electric Manufacturing Company, made this statement:

"The treatment ailing business is receiving reminds one of the patient who was purged, and when I say purged I mean purged; bled white with leeches at both wrists and temples; fed a powder of dried brains,—and yet, said the old account, he died."

Robertson in his attack was undoubtedly necessary," but added that "we need better plans, not more plans."

"Human plans have to be run by average men," he said, "it makes no difference whether they are Utopian or otherwise and just how a Utopian plan can be run by a far-from-Utopian average man, I have never discovered."

OGLE FARM HOME OF WOMAN SINCE 1865 IS BURNED

Residence of Mrs. Fowler, Aged 102, Fuel of the Flames

By Arthur T. Guest

Rochelle — Fire destroyed the residence of Mrs. Elda Fowler of Flagg Center Saturday and Mrs. Fowler, who is in her 102nd year, has transferred her residence to Rochelle, where she is living with her daughter, Mrs. Clark Meyers. The Rochelle rural truck made a quick run to the property but the residence and granary were consumed in spite of the efforts of local company.

Mrs. Fowler was born at Horseheads, New York on July 23, 1832. On April 16, 1855 she was married to William H. Fowler and they came at once to make their home in Illinois, settling on a farm four and one-half miles north of Rochelle, which had been her home until the fire.

Fire underneath the flooring of Harry's cafe on Cherry avenue caused a small loss Sunday afternoon. The firm company made a quick run and extinguished the blaze before serious damage was caused.

W. F. Vierke, Commissioner of Public Health and Safety, has chosen William Hungerford as Chief of Police to take effect the first of May. Mr. Hungerford has been an able officer for several years in Rochelle and served on the police force of both DeKalb and Chicago for many years. He has the experience and qualifications to make an excellent chief.

A. D. Hodges, who on May 1st will complete thirty-six years as chief of police, will assist Mr. Hungerford. Mr. Hodges has the record of being one of the oldest police chiefs in the state from the point of service, and is deserving of a rest from his strenuous duties of the past. Under his administration Rochelle had at all times an adequate and efficient police force, and Mr. Hodges is deserving of a great deal of credit for his good work.

Fifty-four packages of cigarettes were secured at the American Legion card party Friday night, and they will be sent to North Chicago hospital. Mrs. Harold Stevens was chairman of the party.

Miss Garland Lind is chairman of the poppy day, May 26th.

The J. C. Shaffer Grain Co., which has operated an office in Rochelle in the Schokley building, will retire from business on May 1st and the local office will be taken over by the Wirtlett-Frazier Co. of Chicago. The new firm is well known among country shippers in this section. E. A. Gross, who has been in charge of this office for the past six years, will be in charge, with J. W. Dempsey as assistant.

The firm of Binz & Davis will be dissolved April 30. Elmer Davis, who has been a member of the firm since May, 1906, has decided to take an extended vacation in the interest of his health. His partner, Nicholas Binz, will assume full management of the Washington Market, starting May 1st.

PLEASURES OF SMOKING
With the possible exception of alcohol, there is probably no substance used by man about which such marked and bitter controversies have raged as tobacco.

Some few have sung its praise, calling it by sweet and poetic names and extolling its virtues and pacifying qualities. But its opponents have been even more eloquent in presenting its evils.

Out of this welter of argument and discussion, a few facts bearing on tobacco capable of withstanding critical analysis have come to the fore. Thus it has been shown that some individuals are markedly sensitive to tobacco and suffer grave injury from its use. The relationship of tobacco smoking to certain disturbances in the peripheral, or outer, circulatory sys-

A "NEWFANGLED" FISH STORY

Wood Cowan, who draws the "Newfangled" for this newspaper, thought "he had something" when a nibble vibrated along his heavy line at Sarasota, Fla., the other day. He did, and quite a distinction it was for him, too. For he had landed "the smallest fish ever caught with the largest tackle!" Here you see him with the fish, tackle—and silver trophy.

LAWYER DARROW WONDERS IF HE IS DEAD OR NOT

He's Certain of One Thing: He's Not in His Grave Yet

Washington, May 2 — (AP) — Clarence Darrow, noted criminal lawyer, wants people to know that any report of his death is considerably exaggerated.

Smiling broadly, Darrow gave a newspaper man this explanation of why he emerged from retirement on the eve of his 77th birthday to become chairman of NRA's new review board:

"It all happened after I received a letter from a resident of Iowa who wanted me to settle a bet. He wrote 'Let me know whether you are dead.'

Without relaxing his grin, the lawyer went on: "I sometimes wonder."

"That's a question that has bothered me a great deal. I wrote my Iowa friend that I meet so many dead people who're walking around I wonder sometimes whether I'm dead too. I told him I was certain of one thing—I'm not in a grave yet."

Moon Farming

Moon farming, says the United States Department of Agriculture, has no support from any scientific point of view. Most of the beliefs associated with moon farming are not based on the assumption that direct moonlight is especially potent, but rather that the moon exercises some mysterious and occult power over mundane affairs. Even the light and heat from the moon are not sufficient to affect plant growth materially. The moon does not govern agriculture because it has no appreciable influence on any of the major conditions affecting the growth of plants.

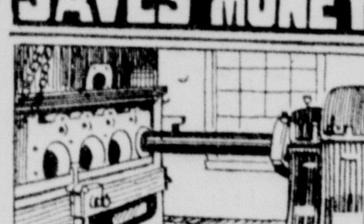

Ancient Wheels

Monuments show that the wheel as used by the ancient Egyptians and Assyrians usually had six spokes; those of the Greeks and Romans had only four. They were generally constructed of wood and sometimes had bronze or iron tires.

REGRINDING SAVES MONEY

There is genuine economy in having us reground the scored or worn cylinder block — regrounding costs less than a new block and it results in genuine power increase with absolute fuel and oil economy. A reground old cylinder block is better than a new green one—for it is seasoned.

SLOGAN CONTEST

RULES

A New 1934 "N" Model Kelvinator will be awarded to the person submitting the best slogan describing, in not more than 15 words, the beautiful new 20th Anniversary Kelvinator.

Slogans must not exceed 15 words.

All slogans must be written on the coupon which will be part of your daily program. These programs will be given you at each session of the school.

Everybody with the exception of employees of the W. H. Ware Hardware Store, local Kelvinator dealers, and employees of the Dixon Telegraph will be eligible to compete.

Slogans may be handed in at any of the three school sessions until 2:30 o'clock Thursday afternoon, when the contest will close.

Three local judges will select the winning slogan and the winner will be announced at the close of Thursday afternoon's school.

A New 1934 "N" Model Twentieth Anniversary Kelvinator is on exhibit at the W.H. Ware Hardware Store, where illustrated and descriptive literature can be secured which will help in the preparation of the 15-word Slogan describing the New Kelvinator.

The decision of the judges will be final.

"Don't let her die," Madeline prayed. It was after midnight when Dr. Cotton informed them that Donna had recovered consciousness and was asleep. "I'm pleased to say there's a slight concussion, two broken ribs and a broken leg and a slight fracture in one wrist. Of course the shock adds complications but with her constitution she should pull through it."

Can burst into hysterical sobs, revealing his Latin temperament. He seized Madeline in his arms and kissed her again and again. "I've got to go on with the show," Madeline said, wriggling out of his arms. "I must see her before I leave, Doctor."

"Tomorrow then."

"No. The train leaves tonight."

The physician shook his head. "It would be dangerous to awaken her now. Let her rest."

MADELINE hesitated. Duty urged her to stay behind with her partner. Her heart bade her go on with Con. There was a small writing desk near a window and on it were ink, pen and stationery. Madeline crossed to the desk, sat down and composed two letters. The first was addressed to Donna and read:

"Donna, Darling: The doctor says you will be well soon and on your feet and Renfroe says I have to go on with the show. I know you will understand my running off like this. We'll need every penny to pay hospital bills. I'll write you every day. Oh, Donna, I'm just heartsick that this had to happen! Of course I'm to blame. I'm sure Ned did it but there's no way to prove it."

"Now listen, honey, you're going to get well and you're going to perform again but it won't be next week or next month, so I'm writing Bill Siddal to come and take you to the farm. I'm signing the letter, 'Donna,' and calling you, 'Madeline.' Don't fall down on this."

"Is your chance to regain your strength and have the right care. And Grandfather will love having you there."

"Don't lose your nerve, darling. Don't worry, and get well very soon."

"Your loving 'sister,' Madeline."

The second letter was shorter.

"Dear Mr. Siddal: Madeline fell from the trapeze tonight and was badly injured, though the doctor says she will live and be in condition to be moved from the hospital in a short time. I am sure she will recover quickly with her family and advise you to come for her at the earliest possible time. She is at Dr. Marvin Cotton's sanatorium."

"Sincerely, Donna Gabriel."

She gave the letters to the physician. "Will you please see that they are mailed?" she asked. "The family will take care of all expenses."

"Where can I get in touch with you?" Dr. Cotton asked, weighing the letters in one hand.

"Give him a route card, Con. And, Doctor, let me know how she is. Wire me tomorrow collect and tell her I'll write every day."

BEGIN HERE TODAY
DONNA GABRIEL and MADELINE SIDDAL who call themselves "The Gabriel Sisters" are trapeze performers with Renfroe's circus. CON DAVID, the animal trainer, is in love with Donna who regards him merely as a friend. Madeline is in love with Con. Ned Trafford, boss canvasman.

When Madeline's grandfather, ALTON SIDDALE, visits her on the week-end on his farm, she persuades Donna to take her place. Donna is much attracted by BILL SIDDALE, Madeline's cousin.

Back at the circus, Donna warns Madeline that Trafford, who is jealous, may cause trouble for them.

NOW GO ON WITH THE STORY
CHAPTER VI

TWO weeks later Renfroe's "Colossal Three Ring Circus" was hundreds of miles from Lebanon. Aside from his presence in the entrance of the tent each time the Gabriel sisters went through their act, Ned Trafford gave no hint of the revenge for which his soul longed.

Four days after Donna's memorable weekend on the farm Madeline received a letter which she opened, read with a quizzical smile and tossed to Donna. "This certainly isn't intended for me!" she said. "You must have made a hit with the big boy."

Donna's cheeks flamed. She took the letter and read it later when she was alone.

"Dear Madeline: I can't very well call you Miss Siddal, though I suppose I should. We have never corresponded, but many times I have written to you for Grandfather. Until I met you those letters meant nothing at all to me. Now I should be very grateful if you would drop me a line now and then. Or is that asking too much?"

"Dear Madeline: I can't very well call you Miss Siddal, though I suppose I should. We have never corresponded, but many times I have written to you for Grandfather. Until I met you those letters meant nothing at all to me. Now I should be very grateful if you would drop me a line now and then. Or is that asking too much?"

"The letter continued impersonally, relating various incidents and closing, "Cordially, Cousin Bill."

Donna treasured it, waited until the next day and then answered it.

Because love had come to her, making the whole world more beautiful, she felt a deep sympathy for Con with his hopeless infatuation. He mistook her kindness and again plead with her to marry him. Donna's refusal hurt him and once more he turned to Madeline for consolation.

It was the sight of Madeline so frequently in the company of the animal trainer that finally precipitated the tragedy, though when it occurred both girls had completely forgotten the threats Trafford had made.

For two days it had rained and attendance at the circus was small. Trafford was in a bad humor. His wife, La Belle Matilde, was irritable, reflecting her husband's temper.

All these facts increased Trafford's black moodiness. He was responsible for the safety of the troupe and was working short of help. Tired, soaked to the skin and sniffling from incipient hay fever, he strode into the "big top" to see Madeline with her arms about Con's neck.

Only Madeline, now stunned and silent, and Con and Peter Renfroe stayed in the little room, while the doctor bent over the improvised

"Is she going to die?" Madeline managed to whisper.

"Can't say yet. Her pulse is strong enough."

"God! There's a jinx on this show!" muttered Renfroe.

"She can't stay here, of course," Dr. Cotton said, his gaze sweeping the trapeze room. "I've a hospital of sorts. We'll take her there. Have you some sort of a stretcher?"

Renfroe went back to the arena to announce to the audience that Miss Gabriel was not badly injured and that the performance would continue, while Con rushed out to have some of the crew construct a stretcher. Madeline, a victim of remorse and terror, sat beside her partner, tears rolling down her white cheeks with their incongruous splashes of rouge.

"Don't lose your nerve, darling. Don't worry, and get well very soon."

"Your loving 'sister,' Madeline."

The second letter was shorter.

GIANTS APPEAR TO BE IN FOR A ROCKY JOURNEY

Hubbell Won't be Able to Pitch Every One for Champs: So--

BY HUGH S. FULLERTON, JR. Associated Press Sports Writer

Even though they are pounding the new National League ball in better style, it looks as if the world champion New York Giants might have to travel over a long and rocky route created by pitching weakness to reach their goal of another National League pennant.

The Giants have run into two severe setbacks already this season. Roy Pardee was rendered temporarily inactive by appendicitis and Hal Schumacher hasn't been able to touch his 1933 form. The trial of the Portland rookie, Joe Bowman, as a starting pitcher yesterday resulted in a victory which put the Giants close to the league lead, but it still emphasized the fact that the durable Carl Hubbell can't do all the pitching this season.

Hubbell in Again

Bowman got through six innings in fair style as the Giants slammed young Emil Leonard of Brooklyn around to the tune of eight runs in three innings, but he weakened badly and was yanked after six innings. Dolf Luque, who relieved him, was belted out before he retired a man and finally Hubbell had to take the hill for the fifth time in 12 games to save a 10-9 decision.

The triumph left the Giants only a half game behind the Cubs, as Pittsburgh's Pirates stepped out behind Ralph Birkoff's five hit southpaw pitching and defeated the league leaders 4-1. Pittsburgh in turn advanced to third ahead of the Boston Braves who took an 11-6 shellacking from the Phillips. Burleigh Grimes won his second victory for St. Louis in as many days when two homers by Jim Collins led the Cardinals to a 3-2 decision over the Cincinnati Reds in 11 innings.

Yanks Came Through

The league leading New York Yankees provided the biggest thrill of the American League program. Going into the ninth inning against Washington with the score tied, they belted three successive triples and finished the inning with five runs and a 10-5 triumph.

Detroit's Tigers came from behind, scoring two runs in the eighth, and held second place by beating St. Louis 5-4. A revised lineup, minus Goose Goslin, produced ten hits, the biggest Tiger total in a week. Henry Johnson, making his first start, pitched the Red Sox to 7 to 2 victory over the Athletics, allowing only six hits. Avenging their 20-10 beating of Monday, the Cleveland Indians pounded out 15 hits, including four homers, and trounced the Chicago White Sox, 12-1.

AMERICA'S first skyscraper was a steel skeleton building, ten stories high. Two stories were added later. The skeleton supported the entire weight of the walls, instead of the walls carrying the weight of the building. Dry ice is solid carbon dioxide having a temperature of 109 degrees below zero. It was first made at Long Island City for practical use.

WEST DEPENDING ON TWO FILLIES IN DOWNS DERBY

While East Rests Hope on Cavalcade and Peace Chance

Louisville, Ky., May 2—(AP)—

With two record-breakers in the invading lineup giving the east a decided edge in Saturday's Kentucky Derby, western turf followers tightened their belts another notch today and staunchly maintained that the two fillies, Mata Hari and Bazaar, are even faster than Cavalcade and Peace Chance.

Mrs. I. D. Sloane's Cavalcade broke the track record for a mile and a sixteenth at Havre de Grace Saturday, and Joseph E. Widener's Peace Chance sheared a fifth of a second off the great Twenty Grand's record for a mile at Churchill Downs yesterday. On top of this, word was received that another eastern hopeful, Mrs. Payne Whitney's Spy Hill, had worked the full Derby route of a mile and a quarter in 2:04 1-5, faster than most Derby's are run.

On Other Hand

But Charles T. Fisher's Mata Hari, if the track is fast and if she does not indulge in a flash of temperament, will "tow-rope" the field home Saturday, her backers declare. Partisan's of Col. E. R. Bradley, on the other hand, point out that Peace Chance defeated Blue Again, a victim of poor racing luck, four lengths yesterday, and that Bazaar beat Blue Again by the same number of lengths on a recent workout over the Derby route together.

Mata Hari and Bazoor both will make their first starts of the year in the Derby, and appeared today as the only hopes of the west to triumph barring victory by a rank outsider. A. B. Gordon's Sir Thomas, as sulked during the running of yesterday's reparation Purse, won by Peace Chance in 1:35 4-5 for the mile, and finished tenth, but his supporters are still confident it will be a different story Saturday.

The western punters, pointing out that Cavalcade is still nervous after his 800-mile train ride from the east; that in breaking the record yesterday Peace Chance may have left his best race on the track and be off form on Derby Day, and that Spy Hill's late shipment from the east will do him no good, were forced to place their main reliance on the fillies, though only one member of that sex has won the Derby.

With their pre-Derby racing behind them, and their final tuneup workouts all that remain before

GOLF

MASHIE SHOT IS MADE BY HITTING DOWN ON BALL

The mashie is lofted to enable the player to get the ball into the air so that when it lights on the ground it will have but little roll.

Beginners taking up the game find difficulty in making the ball rise from the ground. This fault is usually due to the player's effort to help lift the ball.

Do not attempt to get the ball into the air by a lifting motion of the club; instead, drive the bottom edge of the clubhead under the ball, hitting down on it,

NATIVES SHAKE THEIR HEADS IN AMAZED WONDER

Can't Figure Out How Young Americans Take to Course

St. Andrews, Scotland, May 2—(AP)—The oldest natives around St. Andrews still were shaking their heads today after watching the fledglings of the American Walker Cup team tear around their hallowed course the last two days.

"I never saw anything like it," said one grizzled inhabitant after following a foursome composed of Johnny Goodan, Gus Moreland, Lawson Little, all members of the American team, and John Dawson of Chicago, through their second day of practice over the links where the international matches will be played May 11 and 12.

The course which is supposed to chill the world's greatest experts apparently has no terrors for the youngsters making up Uncle Sam's latest golfing challenge to Great Britain. Whereas the average player finishes his first rounds cursing St. Andrews roundly, the American youngsters have found reason only to praise the layout.

Little Cynosure

"All I'm looking forward to is another shot at the course," said Little, the California, who has been the cynosure of all eyes as a result of his phenomenal driving.

Goodman, the American open champion, has been playing a magnificent game from tee to green but has had trouble adjusting his putting to the lightning fast greens.

Dawson, who has had much experience with St. Andrew's pitfalls, expressed amazement at the rapidity with which the youngsters have caught on to the course.

The visiting team planned to take a complete rest from golf today, chiefly because local players were indulging in their annual tournament. Most of the team planned to accompany Captain Francis Outram on a shopping expedition to Dundee.
